Texas Fiscal Years 2008-2009 Economic Development Corporation Report

Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts

November 1, 2010

The Honorable Rick Perry, Governor
The Honorable David Dewhurst, Lieutenant Governor
The Honorable Joseph R. Straus, III, Speaker of the House
Members of the 82nd Legislature
Texas Economic Development Corporations

Fellow Texans:

We are pleased to present this biennial report on the activities of economic development corporations in Texas, as required by the Development Corporation Act of 1979, as amended.

Each year, development corporations are required to submit a one-page Economic Development Corporation Report to the Comptroller, either in hard copy or online. My office then compiles the two years of information into a biennial report that is presented to the Legislature on or before Nov. 1 of each even-numbered year.

City sales tax revenue dedicated to economic development increased to more than $555.5 million in fiscal 2008 and slipped to $538.2 million in fiscal 2009. This sales tax continues to be the state's primary local revenue source for economic development.

The Comptroller's Local Government Assistance and Economic Analysis Division appreciates the cooperation of the staff and governing boards of the economic development corporations, as well as the city officials who were instrumental in gathering and reporting the required information. We commend them for their dedication to the important task of creating and maintaining a strong climate for economic development in their communities and for our state.

We are also pleased to inform you that this report is available on the Comptroller's website at www.texasahead.org/lga/edcr2009.

I hope you will find this report helpful.

Sincerely,

Susan Combs

Executive Summary

The Comptroller's office administers the economic development sales tax program and offers various economic development tools and resources to assist businesses, local governments and economic developers to expand the Texas economy.

The Local Government Assistance and Economic Development Division supports local governments with their economic development efforts in Texas. The staff offers technical assistance, informative publications, webinars and workshops on tax-related state and local economic development programs. Division staff members collaborate with other state agencies to offer accredited training to economic development professionals including the Basic Economic Development Course and the statutorily mandated Economic Development Sales Tax Seminar.

The Comptroller offers two online resources, Texas-Ahead and Texas EDGE, which provide a wealth of data that support economic growth of communities throughout Texas. Texas Ahead (www.TexasAhead.org) is a one-stop center providing key statistics affecting the Texas economy, including economic updates and forecasts. Texas EDGE is a Web-based data center for research on work force, transportation, education, tax rates, demographics and more.

In addition, the Comptroller publishes Texas Rising, a bimonthly newsletter which profiles communities engaged in the successes and challenges of local economic development. Every issue includes an article on "TEX-pansion" listing businesses and industries expanding their facilities throughout Texas. It is a sampling of recently announced expansions, tracked by the Office of the Governor, Economic Development and Tourism Division.

The agency also has published a series of reports on the economic regions of Texas. Each report focuses on the forces driving change and the factors that affect economic growth in the region, including economic development, demographics, infrastructure, health care and education.

Through the agency's role as administrator of the economic development sales tax programs, the Legislature has charged the Comptroller's office with compiling this informative report of Economic Development Corporations each biennium.

History of Type A and Type B Economic Development Corporations

Since the adoption of the Development Corporation Act (the Act) in 1979, Texas law has allowed cities to form economic development corporations (EDCs) to attract businesses and create job opportunities. The Legislature amended the Act in 1989 and again in 1991 to allow eligible cities to adopt dedicated sales and use taxes to fund EDCs. In 2009, the Act was re-codified to Chapters 501-505 of the Local Government Code. With the re-codification, EDCs formerly known as 4A and 4B corporations are now referred to as "Type A" and "Type B" corporations, respectively.

Reporting Requirement

In 1997, the Texas Legislature added a provision to the Development Corporation Act of 1979, requiring economic development corporations to report their financial activities to the Comptroller of Public Accounts. In each even-numbered year since 1998, the Comptroller's office has prepared a report for the Legislature summarizing the data submitted by EDCs during the preceding biennium. The statute requires all Type A and Type B corporations to file an annual report with the Comptroller's office by Feb. 1 of each year, based on the previous fiscal year.

In December of each year, the Comptroller provides information packets to all known Type A and Type B corporations containing necessary information to file the report. The packets also are mailed to cities that held successful elections for the adoption of one or both sales taxes in the prior year.

The Act restricts the report form to a single page in length. Forms may be submitted to the Comptroller's office by mail, facsimile or completed online via a secure website with a unique log-in code for each corporation that is changed annually (Appendix L). To improve reporting efficiency and accuracy, the Comptroller will accept only electronic reports beginning in Fiscal 2011. In fiscal 2009, 367 of the 680 corporations filed their reports via the Internet. The form and the

What is the Type A Sales Tax?

The Type A tax is essentially limited to funding industrial and manufacturing facilities, research and development facilities, recycling facilities, distribution centers, small warehouse facilities, military facilities, job training, targeted infrastructure, regional or national headquarters facilities, business airport facilities and port-related facilities. Expenditures for targeted infrastructure must be related to an authorized activity under the act.

The statute also allows a Type A corporation to undertake most Type B projects without having to change from a Type A corporation to a Type B corporation. To do so, the city council must publish notice, hold a public hearing and obtain voter approval. At the end of fiscal 2009, 219 cities had adopted the Type A economic development sales taxes.

What is the Type B Sales Tax?

A Type B sales tax allows greater flexibility in expending revenues. Generally, allowable Type B expenditures include not only those available under Type A, but also projects that contribute to the quality of life in the community, such as parkrelated facilities, professional and amateur sports and athletic facilities, tourism and entertainment facilities, affordable housing or other improvements or facilities that promote new or expanded business enterprises that create or retain primary jobs. At the end of fiscal 2009, 461 cities had Type B economic development corporations.

Cities must seek voter approval to levy a Type A, Type B or both types of economic development sales taxes. The Act requires a city that adopts either or both of these funding sources to establish a development corporation to administer and oversee the expenditure of the sales tax proceeds. A board of directors, whose members are appointed by and serve at the pleasure of the city's governing body, oversees the development corporation. A city must deliver sales tax receipts derived from the sales tax for economic development to the EDC upon receipt of the funds from the Comptroller's office. The corporation's board of directors is responsible for all decisions regarding the use of these revenues and the projects undertaken. However, the city council retains final oversight authority and must approve of all programs and expenditures of the corporation.

The Type A and Type B Sales Tax Data and Analysis

Six hundred sixty-six EDCs filed reports for fiscal 2008. Filings increased to 680 for fiscal 2009 (Appendix A and Appendix B). Corporation revenues increased over the prior biennium by 5.5 percent to $1.5 billion. Expenditures rose by more than 18 percent during the same period to nearly $1.5 billion. This report provides a statewide analysis of the EDC revenue, expenditures, capital assets economic development objectives and year-end fund balances for the two fiscal years. In addition, appendices arranged by corporation type and alphabetically by city name are included to provide the detailed data reported by each EDC.

Sources of Funds

In fiscal 2008 and 2009, sales tax was the major source of revenue for both types of economic development corporations (Appendix F and Appendix G). These receipts accounted for nearly 80 percent of corporation revenues in fiscal 2009. Sales tax proceeds declined from fiscal 2008 to fiscal 2009 for both Type A and Type B corporations, falling a combined $17.3 million or 3.1 percent.

The second largest revenue source for all corporations in fiscal 2008 was bond proceeds/loans obtained. This category decreased by $113.9 million from fiscal 2008 to 2009, a decline of more than 73 percent.

When examined separately, Type A and Type B corporations differed in their trends of securing revenue from State/Federal Grants and Matching Contributions. While Type A corporations increased their reliance on these funds by $319,000 or more than 28 percent from fiscal 2008 to fiscal 2009, Type B corporations decreased funds obtained from Grants by more than 48 percent or $2.5 million during the same period.

Funds from all revenue sources for Type A and Type B corporations decreased a combined $157.2 million or 18.9 percent from fiscal 2008 to fiscal 2009. Separately, Type A corporations experienced a decline in revenue of 21.8 percent or $72.5 million, while Type B corporations saw total receipts decline by $84.7 million or nearly 17 percent. (Exhibit 1).

Exhibit 2 illustrates the relative importance of various revenue sources for Type A corporations by city size. Sales taxes receipts increased in significance from fiscal 2008 to fiscal 2009 in all cities size categories except those with populations of 0 to 5,000. Most of the decline in the importance of sales tax revenues to total revenue in these small communities can be attributed to a sharp rise in the percentage of revenues from Bond Proceeds/Loans obtained. This category increased from 2.5 percent of revenues in fiscal 2008 to 14.7 percent of total receipts in fiscal 2009.

Historically, the second and third highest revenue sources for Type A corporations as a percentage of revenue were Bond Proceeds/Loans Obtained and Other Revenue. There was no clear trend in the category Bond Proceeds/Loans Obtained for Type A corporations by city size between fiscal 2008 and fiscal 2009. It is notable, however, that corporations in cities with populations exceeding 75,000 reported more than one-third of revenues from this category in fiscal 2008, while reporting zero in fiscal 2009. The percentage of Other Revenue declined for all city size categories except cities with populations greater than 75,000 residents. Corporations in these cities reported a 2.8 percent increase in this category.

Exhibit 3 shows revenue sources for Type B corporations as a percentage of total revenue, again by city size. From fiscal 2008 to fiscal 2009, the share of total

Corporation Fiscal Year

Most corporations reporting in fiscal 2009 adopted a fiscal year corresponding to that of their sponsoring city. A total of 594, or 87 percent, of the corporations listed Oct. 1 through Sept. 30 as the corporation's fiscal year. Twenty-nine or 4 percent, listed the calendar year of Jan. 1 through Dec. 31 as their fiscal year and 19, or 3 percent, listed July 1 through June 30. Thirty-eight corporations adopted other fiscal years, accounting for the remaining 6 percent.

revenues attributable to sales taxes increased in all city size categories except those with populations of 15,000 – 30,000, which experienced a decline of 6.9 percent. The difference resulted from a sharp increase in Other Revenue receipts for cities in this category, which rose from nearly 11 percent of total receipts to nearly 18.5 percent.

Expenditures

The 666 Type A and Type B corporations reported expenditures of nearly $713 million in fiscal 2008 (Appendix H and Exhibit 4). Expenditures by the 680 corporations reporting in fiscal 2009 increased by 7.7 percent to more than $767.5 million (Appendix I and Exhibit 4).

All corporations combined and Type A and Type B corporations separately reported increases in expenditures for Administration, Marketing and Promotion, Job Training, Debt Service and Payments to Taxing Units. Type A corporations reduced their expenditures for Direct Business Incentives by $1.2 million, while Type B corporations increased expenditures in this category by nearly $10 million. Likewise, the expenditure trend for Capital Costs diverged for Type A and Type B corporations. While Type A corporations reduced expenditures in this category by nearly $17.5 million, Type B corporations increased spending by more than $16.8 million.

It is often more useful to examine expenditure categories as a percentage of total expenditures to more easily observe which categories are increasing or decreasing in relation to one another. As presented in Exhibit 5, Type A corporations expended a much larger percentage of their total expenditures on Direct Business Incentives than Type B corporations. In fiscal 2008 and 2009, the difference was 18.5 percent and 15.5 percent, respectively. On the other hand, Type B corporations spent a significantly larger percentage of outlays on Other expenditures compared to Type A corporations. The margin in this category favored Type B corporations by 12.5 percent in fiscal 2008, narrowing to 9.1 percent in fiscal 2009.

Debt Service and Capital Costs were significant expenditure categories for both Type A and Type B corporations. For Type A corporations these two categories combined to account for 52.5 percent of total expenditures in fiscal 2008 and 49.3 percent of expenditures in fiscal 2009. For Type B corporations the numbers were more impressive. Debt Service and Capital Costs cumulatively totaled 56.3 percent of Type B expenditures in fiscal 2008 and 55.6 percent of expenditures in fiscal 2009.

2009 Legislative Changes

There were few changes to the Development Corporation Act of 1979 during the 2009 Legislature. Three bills were adopted affecting the operations of economic development corporations.

- SB 1969: Re-codified the economic development sales tax statute into Chapters 501-505 of the Texas Local Government Code.
- HB 3072: Added Section 253.012 to the Local Government Code to allow cities with a population of less than 20,000 to convey real property to Type A or Type B corporations (with the exception of real property acquired by the city by eminent domain). Under this new law, cities may convey real property to EDCs without complying with state notice and bid requirements. However, the transfer agreement (deed) must contain a provision requiring the EDC to use the property "in a manner that primarily promotes a public purpose of the municipality." If the EDC fails to comply with the public purpose provision, the property automatically reverts back to the city.
- SB 2052: Added railports, rail switching facilities, marine ports, and inland ports to the definition of "project" contained in Section 501.101 of the Local Government Code.

For more information about the authority and responsibilities of Type A and Type B corporations, refer to the Comptroller's office publication #96-302, Economic Development Sales Tax, which is available at www. window.state.tx.us/taxinfo/taxpubs/tx96_302.pdf. Or contact the Comptroller's Local Government Assistance and Economic Analysis Division at (512) 463-4679, ext. 3-4679.

State law caps Marketing and Promotional expenditures by both Type A and Type B corporations at 10 percent of a corporation's annual revenues, except under certain circumstances. The limit is 25 percent of revenues for a Type A city:

- that has municipal limits including two counties;
- that has less than 24,250 residents, according to the most recent federal census; and
- that is located within 10 miles of a federal military reservation.

The reports for fiscal 2008 indicate that 17 of the 219 Type A corporations spent more than 10 percent of their revenues for Marketing and Promotion. Four of the 17 corporations exceeded 20 percent. Of the 447 Type B corporations reporting in fiscal 2008, 41 exceeded the 10 percent threshold and 16 exceeded 20 percent of revenues (Appendix J).

In fiscal 2009, 19 of the 219 Type A corporations reported expenses over the 10 percent cap, with only three exceeding 20 percent. For the 461 Type B corporations reporting that year, 60 exceeded the 10 percent limit, with 15 exceeding 20 percent.

While most Type A and Type B corporations appear to be in compliance with the limitation on marketing and promotional expenses, the act does not require a corporation to prove that it qualifies for an exception to the statute. Nor does the law provide any penalty for those that exceed the limit. It also should be noted that some corporations exceeding the statutory limit may have carried forward unused revenues budgeted for marketing and promotion from previous fiscal years. Attorney General Opinion GA-0086 states "a corporation that chooses to spend revenues for promotional purposes may spend up to 10 percent of its annual revenues for that purpose or may set all or some of these funds aside in a promotional purposes account. A corporation that set aside revenues in such an account could spend those past year revenues along with the allowable percentage of its current annual revenues for promotional purposes without violating the cap."

The percentage of funds expended by Type A and Type B corporations by category varied significantly among cities of different sizes in fiscal 2008 and fiscal 2009 (Exhibits 6 and 7).

Both Type A and Type B corporations generally outlaid a relatively lower percentage of expenditures for Personnel and Administration as city size increased. This is likely the result of the increased administrative efficiency of the larger organizations. Overall, Type B corporations seemed to be more administratively efficient than Type A corporations, as Personnel and Administrative expenses for Type B corporations were lower in every city size category.

The percentage spent on Direct Business Incentives was generally higher for Type A corporations than for Type B corporations. In fact, only in the size category of cities with populations between 5,000 and 15,000 residents were expenditure percentages in this category similar between Type A and Type B corporations, varying by approximately two percent in both fiscal years.

Capital Cost expenditures as a percentage of total expenditures by both Type A and Type B corporations tended to increase with city size. Type A and Type B Corporations located in cities with populations of 5,000 or fewer residents spent between one-fourth and one-fifth of total expenditures on this category. Type A corporations in cities with populations greater than 75,000 spent from one-third to more than one-half of expenditures on Capital Costs. Type B corporations located in cities of this size expended approximately two-thirds of total annual outlays on this project type.

Primary Economic Development Objectives

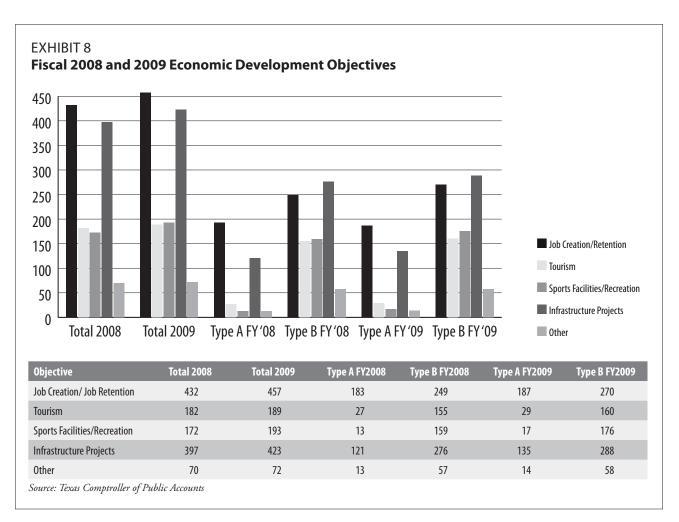

In fiscal 2008 and 2009, most corporations listed more than one primary economic development objective (Appendix C). Job Creation/Job Retention was the preferred activity by both Type A and Type B corporations, followed closely by Infrastructure Projects. Sports Facilities/Recreation and Tourism were popular third and fourth choices for Type B corporations, while relatively few Type A corporations selected these categories. (Exhibit 8).

Types of Capital Assets

Capital assets for fiscal 2008 and 2009 are found in Appendix D and Appendix E. Of the 680 corporations, 360 reported capital assets in fiscal 2009. The most common capital asset was Land, including both acreage and lots, reported by 244 corporations. Other capital assets included Buildings (122), Industrial Parks/Sites (106), Equipment (92), Commercial buildings (88), Other (60) and Recreational Facilities (54). The total number of reported assets exceeded the total number of corporations because many reported owning more than one asset type.

There was a significant difference between the percentage of Type A and Type B corporations reporting capital assets. In fiscal 2009, 140 or 64 percent of the 219 Type A corporations reported owning capital assets, compared to 220 or 48 percent of the 461 Type B corporations. This disparity could have resulted from some Type B corporations expending funds for assets that are transferred to the city upon completion, such as park-related projects. In those cases, the capital asset would no longer belong to the corporation, but would become a capital asset of the city.

Exhibits 9a and 9b show the assets owned by the two types of corporations in fiscal 2009. A comparison between the charts shows the relative differences between the types of assets owned by Type A and Type B corporations. The largest disparity is found in categories pertaining to the ownership of real property. Ownership of Industrial Parks/Sites was much more common among Type A corporations, with 19.8 percent reporting ownership of this asset class compared to only 9.4 percent for Type B corporations. Type A corporations also had a greater percentage in the categories of Land, Commercial Buildings and Building than Type B corporations.

Corporation Fund Balances

Beginning in fiscal 2006, the Comptroller requested that each corporation report their year-end unrestricted fund balance or unrestricted retained earnings. (Appendix K). These are the funds that were not formally designated by the board of directors for a project cost or other expenditure during the fiscal year. Fund balances may carry over from year to year.

In fiscal 2008, 211 Type A corporations reported fund balances totaling $406.5 million. The total increased to $420.3 million for the 211 Type A corporations stating fund balances in fiscal 2009.

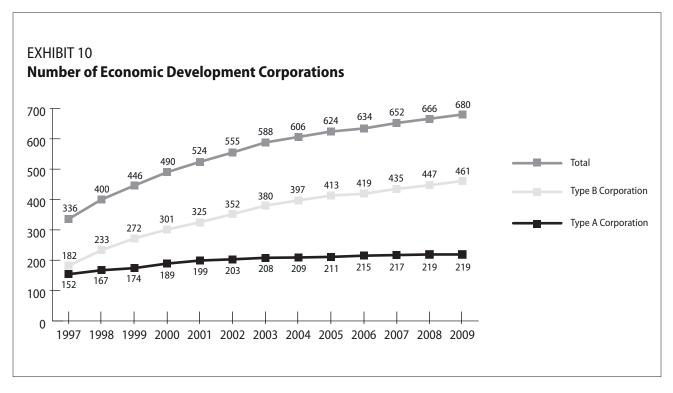

There were 428 Type B corporations reporting fund balances in fiscal 2008. Together they stated fund balances of more than $484.7 million. For fiscal 2009, 447 Type B corporations recorded year-end fund balances totaling $433.5 million.

Combined, Type A and Type B corporations reported fund balances totaling nearly $853.9 million at the end of fiscal 2009.

Growth of the Sales Tax for Economic Development

As many Texas cities reach the two percent local sales tax cap, growth in the number of new Type A and Type B corporations has slowed. Exhibit 10 shows how the number of corporations has changed since 1997.

Between fiscal 2003 and fiscal 2005 the total number of corporations grew at a rate of 18 per year. There were only 10 new corporations created in fiscal 2006 and 18 new corporations created in fiscal 2007. In fiscal 2008 and fiscal 2009 the number of corporations increased by 14 per year.

In recent years, most of the growth in new corporations has been driven by increases in Type B corporations. From fiscal 2003 to fiscal 2007, a net of only nine new Type A corporations were created, while the number of Type B corporations increased by 64. All of the net increase in corporations during fiscal 2008 and fiscal 2009 resulted from creation of new Type B corporations.

Another factor affecting the rate of increase in the number of Type A and Type B corporations is competition from other types of sales tax. Sales tax ballot initiatives may take place up to twice per year if initiated by either a city council or upon a successful petition by registered voters in a community. The result may be the abolition of any local sales tax to reduce the local tax burden or to impose a different type of local sales taxes.

For example, in fiscal 2008 voters in Anson reduced their Type A and Type B sales tax to impose a 0.25 percent sales tax for Street Maintenance and Repair. Similarly in fiscal 2009, voters in Godley abolished their Type A sales tax to impose a 0.125 percent sales tax for Street Maintenance and Repair.

By the end of fiscal 2010, 358 Texas cities had adopted the sales tax for property tax relief, and 167 cities had adopted the sales tax for street maintenance and repair.
